HORACE JOHNSON FOR COMMISSIONER

Mr. Johnson has served for six years as Secretary of the Typographical Union and has represented this body in the International Typographical Convention, where he was placed on the Laws Committee, the most important of the Convention.

He has been a Delegate to the State Federation of Labor, and represented that organization in the American Federation of Labor. This is the highest honor that can come to a Union man in this state.

Horace Johnson is a competent and acceptable man for the Commission, represents the best labor interests of this city. His election would greatly benefit the entire city of Memphis. Industrial discord is more often caused by lack of understanding between the various elements, rather than contention over some important point at issue.

Total of 36 Proposed Changes in Treaty Voted Down by Solons-Nine More To Be

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—At last reaching the stage of action in its consideration of the peace treaty, the sentate swept aside in quick succession late yesterday 35 of the maintenance are made in a mendments written into the document by Me foreign relations committee. The smallest majority recorded against any of the proposals was 15 and the largest was 28. All amendments considered had been introduced by Senafor Fail. Republican. New Mexico, and were designed to curtail American participation in European settlements resulting from the war.

to curtail American participation in European settlements resulting from the war.

Of the nine amendments yet to be acted on, aix refate to the Shantung section, two propose to equalize voting power in the league of nations, and one would limit American representation on the reparations commission. In the absence of a definite agreement for disposition of these proposals, senate leaders thought tonight that the debate might run on for several days before another roil call is taken.

Throughout the day's voting the Democrats presented a solid front against the amendments except for Senators Gore, of Oklahoma, and Thomas, of Colorado. Seventeen Republicans, on the other hand, lined up against the first committee proposal to be considered, and most of them stood with the Democrats on all succeeding roil calls. Many announced they were for reservations which they believed would cover the same ground without endangering tha treaty. At adjournment the treaty advocates declared themselves elated at the day's work and the opposition leaders also were claiming a victory on the showing made for their amendments.

the day's work and the opposition leaders also were claiming a victory on the showing made for their amendments.

They mustered a maximum strength of 31, which with absentees would be sufficient, they declared, to insure the treaty's defeat unless satisfactory qualifications are accepted. Thirty-three negative votes on the final roll call, they pointed out, would make impossible the two-thirds majority necessary for ratification.

iwe-thirds majority necessary for ratification.
Under a special agreement speeches on the amendments were limited to five minutes and nearly half the senate membership got into the running delate which occupied most of the day. Only a few senators were absent and many members of the house crowded into the rear of the chamber to see the first actual action on the treaty, while in the filled galleries the ushers stood guard in the alsies to restrain spectators from applauding the declarations from the floor.

Once during the debate the rule against applause was broken, however, a wave of handelapping following a speech by Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, a Republican member of the committee, pleaded against amendment of the treaty and concluded by Seciaring that no harm could come of America's "doing its full duty to the very end." The demonstration was quickly hushed by vigorous use of the gavel.

There were only four roll calls, all the other amendments being voted down by acclamation.

King, Queen and Prince Leopold With Suite Formally Welcomed to City for Opening of Their U. S. Visit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The king and queen of the Belgians, with Prince Leopoid, heir apparent to the throne, east aside today the royal "incognito" which had shrouded them since their wercome at noon yesterday to the United States by Vice-President Marshall, and boarded the yacht Noma in the Hudson river to make their "formal entry" into New Fork.

Driving from the Waldorf-Astoria to the foot of West Thirty-fourth street, the royal visitors were received by Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of Mayor Hyan's committee on reception to distinguished guests, committee members and city oficials. The Noma immediately oast off and started on a cruise about the harbor prior to the "official" landing at the Battery at 11:55 o'clock.

The program called for the arrival of the party at city hall at 12:15 o'clock for a formal welcome to the state and city of New York by Gov. Smith and Mayor Hylan and the conferring upon the king of honorary citizenship of the city.

The royal party was then to motor back to the Waldorf for a private back to the Waldorf for a private back to the Waldorf for a private backer. At $120 o'clock the king and queen were to be greeted by $50,000 school children in Central park and the king was to plant a tree. There were no other formal plans for the day, but it was understood that the king, queen and prince planned to visit a theater to-night. King Recognized

King Recognized.

The "incognito" which the king and queen chose to assume upon their arrival yesterday was as novel to New Yorkers as was the actual fact of the presence in the city for the first time in history of a reigning king and queen. The "incognito" proved only partially affective so far as Albert was concerned. When he went for an automobile tour of the city with Prince Ledpold, the well-known face of the "solider-king" was frequently recognized and he was fervently cheered. He received an especially enthusiastic ovation at Columbia university, where he was recognized by a throng of students leaving their classes.

At the close of his ride King Albert yielded the Belgian bureau, where he was greeted by 200 Belgians in an informal reception.

Queen Ellzabmeth's "incognito," aided by a heavy white veil, proved more effective. Accompanied by the Baroness de Cartar de Marchienne, wife of the Belgian ambassador to the United States, the queen visited several Fifth avenue department stores and minde small purchases from saleswomen who falled to realize the 'rank of their quiet customer.

In the evening the king and queen essayed to visit a Broadway moving peture show, but every theater they visited displayed the "standing room only" sign and they were forced to abandon the plan.

The queen with her lady-in-waiting and the Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne then visited a cabaret, accompanied by Baron de Caraman Chimay, King Albert spent the evening chatting with friends.

The royal party will remain in New York until Saturday when they will start on a tour of the nation which will take them to the Pacific coast and back again to Washington, where they will be received at the White House. The first scheduled stop is Boston, where the royal party is expected to arrive on Sunday morning.

RED CROSS IS TO PUT PICTURES IN HOSPITAL

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 3. (Spl.)—As an adjunct to the State Tuberculosis an adjunct to the State Tuberculosis sanitarium, at Magee, the Red Cross, gulf division, has contributed a fully equipped motion picture machine, and expects to add other amusement devices at an early date.

The Red Cross has, in fact, agreed to co-operate with the officials of the sanitarium and assist especially in looking after the ex-service men there. Dr. Henry Boswell, superintendent of the institution, made a talk in Jackson recently in which he stressed the need of more amusement for the patients as an aid to rapid recovery, and a Red Cross worker present sent a request immediately to gulf division headquarters for the necessary equipment.

Many former soldiers are on the waiting list of the state institution, in addition to scores of other persons, kept out by the limited facilities.

The Cost of Shoes

(Chapter Four.)

In Chapter Three we explained the difference between the machine and hand processes of Shoemaking. give here the advantages and disadvantages of each

When lasting a Welt Shoe tacks are driven in to hold the upper to the insole, which remain till the upper has become well formed, are then removed and the welt sewed on. In the handsewed welt a few tacks are removed at a time, as required. In the machine sewed all tacks are removed at once and several tem-porary staples take their place. The hand process, therefore may be proceeded with immediately on lasting, the upper having no opportunity to pull away; but if in the Goodyear process the sewing is done "green," or before the leather has completely conformed to the last, the Shoe may lose its shape and the fit be poor.
On the other hand, as the hand sewing is done by human beings, who get tired with long hours, the work is not as uniform as that done by a machine, which is as fresh and strong at 5 p.m. In Conter Five we will explain how the stitch of the machine differs from that done by hand. While Zellner's carries nothing but high and medium grades.
